Teachers notes

Ask the children to get into pairs or groups. It is important that they do this activity in class. After the questions have been asked, the class teacher should go through the answers and supported commentary below, ensuring that the children understand how they can keep safe and know what they can do to get support.

* Games and apps are a great way to learn, relax and have fun. But it's important to be careful about what we do and share online to keep safe.

* Teachers could explore how children would feel if they see something inappropriate online. They might feel frightened, uncomfortable or scared or they may be prompted to copy the observed behaviour.

* All social media sites, apps and games have a minimum age. As well as the site's own minimum age, there are recommended ages on both Google Play and the Apple App store and all boxed consoles games are required to have a PEGI age rating. These age ratings help us to decide whether a game or site is appropriate, and tells us if there are things that could be upsetting or disturbing. However, please note that PEGI ratings for games do not highlight the risks of being able to communicate with other gamers which may lead to bullying or grooming. On most games, the settings can be changed to switch off chat or limit communication.

* If a child/young person is ever worried about something that's happened online, they should talk to a trusted adult or to Childline. The CEOP Report Abuse button can also be used to report abuse and grooming.

ONLINE-QUIZ

True or false

6. A friend meets someone online who tells them they are the same age.
So it is safe for them to share personal information. (1 mark)

   FALSE. Tell the class: it's important to remember that online, people are not always who they say they are. Be careful not to share any personal information online. If a child receives an inappropriate image. film or message, they should tell an adult they trust. Ask children to repeat and remember: Don't delete, reply or meet.

7. Someone is being mean to a friend online but there is nothing they can do.
It is just something they have to put up with. (1 mark)

   FALSE. Tell the class: if someone is experiencing bullying online (ie Cyberbullying), that's not OK and it's not their fault. There are things they can do, such as reporting and blocking the person bullying them, and speaking to an adult they trust.

8. A friend wants to talk to Childline about something that's upset them.
He has read online that it's confidential. (1 mark)

   TRUE. Tell the class: if someone contacts Childline, whatever they say will be between them and Childline. They can feel safe knowing that no one else will find out unless Childline are really worried about a child's safety. They may need to speak to others to ensure the child is kept safe.

9. Describe three things your friends can do to stay safe when they're using the internet? (Upto 5 marks available)

   (Answers could include: not sharing personal information, such as their full name; not sharing their location; using sites that are appropriate for their age; blocking/reporting people who send them inappropriate messages and asking their parents, carers or teachers for help; checking and updating their security settings; not accepting friend requests from people they don't know; only posting things that they would be happy for anyone to see).
