Scorching summer fundraising

The summer months are a great opportunity to get creative with your fundraising and we've put together a few ideas to get you started.

Bank Holiday BBQ bash

Throw a summer barbecue for your work colleagues or local community. Get friends and family to help you with the food and ask people to donate to attend. Get your spatula at the ready and keep your fingers crossed for sunshine.

Old school sports day

Egg and spoon, tug of war, three-legged race. Get the kids and the big kids to take part in a sports day games tournament. Sell tickets for people to attend. You could even make a day of it and set up stalls offering food, drink and fairground games, adding the profits to your fundraising pot.

Cinema under the stars

Loan a movie screen, sound system and set them up in an outdoor space to host a film night. You could show an action-packed blockbuster, a so bad it's good movie, or an old favourite. Just pick a film get, some snacks and invite people to enjoy a movie under the stars. Ask them to donate what they would pay at the cinema.

Garden party

It's time to dig out the bunting, pour a glass of Pimms and throw a classic garden party. You could do it in your own garden or make it a bigger event by hiring an outdoor space. Make sure there's lots of food, drink and fun games. Ask people to donate to attend.

Eurovision party

Choose food, drinks and outfits from Eurovision countries and have a fabulous party! Ask people to donate to attend or charge for people to enter a best dressed or tastiest dish competition.
